THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1848.

[No. 5238.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor, & feelings in general of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases estimated desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

fords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water, the eyes, whether the effect of nature's weakness or of accident.

Fan-Sash Making.
METAL FANSASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufacture in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expense in procuring the necessary preparations, and elies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.
Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as if in town.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND DAILY ADVERTISER.

PUBLISHED BY
SAMUEL SNOWDEN,
ROYAL STREET.

Daily Gazette $7 Country Gazette $5.

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1818.

From the Savannah Museum.

QUOTH Dick to Harry, on exchange, one day.

(And what d'ye think young Dicky had to say?)

"Friend Harry, Harry, Harry, I've been told,

Your wife, wife, has learnt, learnt, learnt, to scold."

"Has learnt to scold? O dang her rosy cheek,

She learnt to scold before she learnt to speak;

A sad misfortune that we married were,
We make a sulky, groaning, cursing pair;

So when you marry, take a deal of care, Take my advice Dick, when you court a maid,

Be sure that she will not dispise you trade,

Despise your city, father, coz or mother;
Your old connexions, confidant or brother;

Next, if you're sick, with cholic, pains or gout,

She will not leave you for her neighbor's route,

Or if in debt, beyond your power to pay,
She will not tease you to attend the play.

But first of all, for in advice I'm sage, Be it your object, ascertain her age;

The only cause that earth is not my heaven,

I'm sixty-two; my wife is twenty-seven!

EPICRAM.

When'er you marry, (to his son A prudent father said,) Take for thy loving help-mate, one Rich widow, or rich maid—For any wife may turn out ill, But, gad! the money never will.

ROM RELY'S PHILADELPHIA GAZETTE.
Mr. Rely,

I was amused, if not instructed, a few evenings since, in perusing several numbers of the Tattler,—(published more than one hundred years since.) In one of which, I was peculiarly pleased with the character the author gives of Sir FRANCIS BACON. I take the liberty of making the following extracts, and request, as a favor, its publication in your very useful paper:

From the Tattler, No. 267.

"I was infinitely pleased to find among the works of this extraordinary man, (Sir F. Bacon) a prayer of his own composing, which for the elevation of thought and greatness of expression, seems rather the devotion of an angel than a man. His principal fault seems to have been the excess of that virtue which covers a multitude of faults. This betrayed him to so great indulgence towards his servants, who made a corrupt use of it, that it tripped him of all those riches and honors which a long series of merit had heaped upon him. But in this prayer, at the same time we find him prostrating himself before the great mercy-seat and humbled under afflictions, which at that time lay heavy upon him, we see him supported by the sense of his integrity, his piety, his devotion, and his love for mankind, which gave him a much higher figure in the minds of thinking men, than that greatness had done from which he was fallen. I shall beg leave to write down the prayer itself, with the title to it as it was found among his lordship's papers, written in his own hand; not being able to furnish my readers with an entertainment more suitable to this solemn time."

A PRAYER OF ISLAM.

Made by my Lord Bacon, Chancellor of England.

"Most gracious Lord God, my merciful Father from my youth up; my Creator, my Redeemer, my Comforter—Thou, O Lord, soundest and searchest the depths and secrets of all hearts, thou acknowledgest the upright of heart; thou judgest the hypocrite; thou ponderest men's thoughts and doings as in a balance; thou measurest their attentions as with a line; vanity and crooked ways cannot be hid from Thee.

"Remember, O Lord! how thy servants have walked before thee; remember what hath been principal in my intentions. I have loved their assemblies, I have mourned for the divisions of the church, I have delighted in the brightness of thy sanctuary. This vine, which thy right hand hath planted in this nation, I have ever prayed unto Thee that it might have the first and the latter rain, and that it might stretch her branches to the seas, and to the floods. The state and bread of the poor and oppressed have been precious in my eyes. I have hated all cruelty and hardness of heart; I have (though in a despised weed) procured the good of all men. If any have been my enemies, I thought not of them, neither hath the sun almost set upon my displeasure; but I have been as the dove, free from superfluity of maliciousness. Thy creatures have been my books, but thy scriptures much more. I have sought Thee in the courts, fields, and gardens; but I have found Thee in thy temples.

"Thousands have been my sins, and ten thousands my transgressions, but thy sanctifications have remained with me, and my heart, (through thy grace) hath been an unquenched coal upon thine altar.

"O Lord, my strength! I have, since my youth met Thee in all my ways, by thy fatherly compassions, by thy comfortable chastisements, and by thy most visible providence. As thy favours have increased upon me, so have thy corrections; as thou hast been always near me, O Lord! and ever as my worldly blessings were exalted, so secret darts from Thee have pierced me; and when I have ascended before men, I have descended in humiliation before Thee—And now when I thought most of peace and honor, thy hand is heavy upon me, and hath humbled me according to thy former loving kindness, keeping me still in thy fatherly school, not as a bastard, but as a child. Just are thy judgments upon me for my sins, which are more in number than the sands of the sea, but have no proportion to thy mercies; for what are the sands of the sea? Earth, heavens, and all these are nothing to thy mercies. Besides my innumerable sins, I confess before Thee, that I am debtor to Thee for the gracious talent of thy gifts and graces, which I have neither put in a napkin, nor put it (as I ought) to exchangers, where it might have made best profit, but mispent in things for which I was least fit; so I may truly say, my soul hath been a stranger in the course of my pilgrimage. Be merciful unto me, O Lord, for my Saviour's sake, and receive me unto thy bosom, or guide me in thy ways."

Alexandria, May 28, 1818.

For the Alexandria Gazette.

The following resolution of the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Virginia, lately assembled at Winchester, is furnished for publication by the secretary of the convention, for the purpose of giving the earliest information upon the subject, which is considered interesting and important.

In Convention, May 22, 1818.

Whereas, differences of opinion prevail as to certain fashionable amusements; and it appears desirable to many, that the sense of the convention should be expressed concerning them; the convention does hereby declare its opinion, that gaming, attending on theatre, public balls, and horse-racing, should be relinquished by all communicants of this church, as having the bad effects of staining the purity of the christian character—of giving offense to their pious brethren—and of endangering their own salvation by their rushing, voluntarily, into those temptations, against which they implore the protection of their heavenly father: and this convention cherishes the hope that this expression of its opinion will be sufficient to produce conformity of conduct and unanimity of opinion among all the members of our communion.

The above is a true extract from the proceedings.

WM. MUNFORD,

Secretary to the Convention.

Alexandria, May 26, 1818.

Extract from Miss HANNAH MOORE'S "Strictures on the modern system of female education."

"Since, then, there is a season, when the youthful must cease to be young, and the beautiful to excite admiration, to learn how to grow old gracefully, is, perhaps, one of the rarest and most valuable acts that can be taught to woman. And, it must be confessed, it is a most severe trial for those women to be called to lay down beauty, who have nothing else to take up. It is for this sober season of life, that education should lay up its rich resources. However disregarded hitherto they may have been, they will be wanted now. When admirers fall away, and sisters become mute, the mind will be driven to retire into itself, and if it find no entertainment at home, it will be driven back again upon the world with increased force. Yet, forgetting this, do we not seem to educate our daughters exclusively for the transient period of youth, when it is to mature life we ought to advert? Do we not educate them for a crowd, forgetting that they are to live at home?—for the world, and not for themselves? For show, and not for use?—for time, and not for eternity?"

From the Kentucky Gazette.

NEW ORLEANS.

Extract of a letter to a gentleman in this place, dated N. Orleans, March 10.

"This city is destined at no distant period to become to the United States, what Alexandria was to Egypt, or what Paris is to France; the emporium of its commerce, its wealth, its population, and its political greatness, in relation to the rest of the world and also the hot bed of contagion, luxury, effeminacy, crime, treachery, and civil discord.

A philosopher standing on an eminence at the source of Allegheny or Monongahela, and casting the eyes of fancy down the stupendous plain inclining to the gulf of Mexico, would recognize New Orleans as the great reservoir of its overflowing opulence; the Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, and Mississippi, together with all their constituent branches, would only be regarded as so many natural highways through which the tributary fruits of those vast and fertile countries that they water, must be poured into this depot of the commerce of a continent.

The more we contemplate the present and prospective resources of N. Orleans, the less will we be prepared to set limits to its increase. The city is built in the shape of a crescent, the curve of the river constituting a safe and commodious harbor in which there are at this time 250 sail of vessels. With what transport does the eye of patriotism repose on this spectacle! It is the august evidence of the present prospect of the country, and the earnest of her future political glory.

Defended on one side by the river and on the other by a swamp that no labor can reclaim, and no effort can penetrate; it is only to be approached through a defile three-fourths of a mile in width, which being protected by a breast work, manned by 3000 men, (for a greater number could not operate) New Orleans in point of strength is another Gibraltar; she laughs defiance at the most powerful invaders.

The wealth of a country is to be estimated by the number and wealth of its inhabitants; or in other words by the extent of its agriculture and commerce.— The citizens of Mississippi and Louisiana will vend at this port during the present year, 2,000,000 dollars worth of cotton and sugar, the fruits of their harvest; besides great quantities of rice, indigo, &c. It is not uncommon for the planters of these states to receive an annual income of $50,000 from their farms; there are instances of their incomes amounting to $80,000 and that of Hampton is conjectured to be upwards of $120,000. The humble laborer, whose all consists of eight or ten mules, has been known to make $110 per day during the present winter, by dragging cotton from the levee to the warehouses, usually about 300 yards; for which he was paid the enormous sum of one dollar per bale.

The aggregate increase of the commerce of this port, during the last twelve months according to the report from the custom house, was more than one fifth. Where the earth is thus bountiful, where industry is thus rewarded, what human prescience can fix bounds to the prosperity of the country? Though already a rallying point for the luxuries of the world—the theatre of enterprize for the people of all tongues and nations; although the en-signs of every country are proudly pressing forward, in competition for her commerce, New Orleans is but the germ of what she must necessarily become.

Behold, the unappropriated lands of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee; look to the boundless forests that wave over the waters of the Illinois and Missouri. They are destined to surrender their dominion to the cheerful village and the cultivated farm. Long before they assume the diversity of European population; long before every rood of ground will be required to support its man, this city will embrace an era, and assume a magnificence, such as the world has rarely witnessed before. Every advancement which is made in arts, every stroke which is stricken by the hand of industry in these countries, will proportionably advance her opulence, and increase her importance; for their wealth, like their waters, must disgorge itself through the channel of the Mississippi, and will be constrained to pay tribute before it passes.

From a short space below the mouth of the Ohio to the Walnut Hills, an extent of near six hundred miles, the bank of the Mississippi present to the eye one uniform and dreary waste, unvaried by a single vestige of culture, without even an Indian hut to enlighten the scene; the annual overflowing of the river having derived the hand of enterprize from planting the standard of civilization on its shores. But the reign of nature there, is almost at an end. This proud monarch of rivers has too long tyrannized over the fairest portion of the American continent.
The arts, rising in their majesty to assert their rights, will ere long say to this great western Nile, "thus far shalt thou go, but no further." Then shall its shores, which seem now to be entombed with a law of perpetual desolation, term with the sons of industry, the citizens of a free government.

This is not a fiction of fancy, but rational calculation, founded upon the fairest principles of analogy. When De Scioto discovered the Mississippi he mistook it for a great inland lake, such was the ur-surpation of its waters. Would he have been persuaded that at this time, that immeasurable waste of inundation could be transformed into a continued village from New Orleans to Baton Rouge, fronted by delightful orange groves, and ornament gardens bordering the margin of the water; and that by means of the steam engine, that stupendous discovery in mechanical philosophy, the traveller would be propelled at the rate of four miles an hour against this angry and overwhelming current, surrounded by all the elegancies and luxuries of a modern hotel?

Seeing these things, can we be called extravagant for indulging the anticipation, that in less than half a century, a new source of opulence will open upon New Orleans, by all the unappropriated lands between it and the mouth of the Ohio being redeemed from inundation, & made subservient to the purposes of husbandry?

The greatest extent of inland navigation known to the world, is between the cities of New Orleans and New York; there being but 27 miles land carriage is that great northern route of near 4000 miles. This communication, though at present but little, if at all used, was evidently intended to answer some wise purpose, as nature never exerts herself in vain, and may in the course of human events, become a chain of social union, and a high road of commerce, between those remote sections of our vast and growing republic.

Lake Pontchartrain, approaching the city on the west, and communicating with it through a canal into the Bayou St. John although already important, will assume a new character in relation to New Orleans when the Floridas are made a component part of the United States.

With the most unparalleled endowments, New Orleans languishes under an unwise administration. The last summer they were scourged by the Yellow fever; still no effort is made to pave the streets, or improve their cleanliness—when by a disbursement of $100,000, water might be conveyed to the door of every citizen.

Cadiz is little more remarkable for the number of assassins who infest its corners; there has scarcely been a night during six weeks I have been here, that one or more murdered are thrown into the ground, and there is not enough of police spirit to enquire their names; or without public justice once deigning to turn her head to see who committed the outrage.

The hospital, a tolerable commodious building, an institution that might be extensively useful, is the most melancholy lazar house that ever generated contagion a mere nursery for the grave. The general government, could they see their sailors dying for the want of such an institution would not hesitate to build a marine hospital in this vicinity. So rapid is the increase of commercial intercourse between the western country and this port, that public policy will unite with public mercy in a petition to the legislatures of the interested states, to enlarge the sphere of their patriotic munificence, and erect a competent house for the reception of their sick boatmen."

KINGSTON, (Jam.) April 25.
Extract of a letter from St. Domingo, dated April 17, to a gentleman in this city.

"This day a vessel has arrived here from Caracas, the captain of which affirms that Bolivar was in Valencia; that Morillo had been completely defeated and in his flight was mortally wounded by a lance, and died soon after. The like information is confirmed by a person who has just arrived here from Porto Rico, alleging to intelligence which had reached that island from Porto Cabello.

"A Dutch frigate which sailed from Curacao to receive any property belonging to the inhabitants of that colony had not returned. As Porto Cabello was shut to her admission."

April 27.

The prince regent has been graciously pleased to confer on rear admiral Sir Home Popham, his naval commander, the royal Hanoverian order of the Guelph, for his services when employed with the Hanoverian army.

By the Pelican, arrived yesterday from Puerto Cabello, last from Curacao, we learn that a severe battle had been fought on the plains of Valencia, about a month ago, between the Royalists, under general Morillo, and the Independents, under general Bolivar, when general Morillo received a spear wound in the groin, and much slaughter took place; but, however, the former remained masters of the field. Several skirmishes afterwards took place, and about ten days subsequently, general Lopez, second in command of the Royal troops, surprised the Independent forces, and after very hard fighting, the latter were put to the route; Lopez and several of his officers were killed, and it was said that Bolivar was mortally wounded, and that he had died of his wounds.

The above was the only intelligence on the subject that had reached Carra-coa from Puerto Cabello, and published by the friends of the Royal cause, but it was also known that the Independents had a formidable force, and that such were the apprehensions of the inhabitants of La Guira and Puerto Cabello, they had for some time past packed up all their valuables, with the intention of embarking the moment the approach of the enemy was announced. The communications with the interior were entirely cut off, and no advices had arrived from Caracas for some time past.

The British schr. Catherine Anna, capt. Farres, from this port to St. Jago de Cuba, was boarded on the 20th inst. about six leagues from the Moro, by the privateer La Clere, capt. Dennis Thomas, under Mexican colours, who took three Spanish gentlemen, passengers, by force to the privateer, and threatened to detain them if they did not furnish information of the merchandise on board, which having done, 23 bales and boxes of dry goods were carried away, and they then allowed the Catherine Anna to proceed to her port of destination.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.
THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and up on the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition; so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstract calculation —so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and some times in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to every man who will be anxious to study it elucidation will be necessary.
I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.
THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.
I. The work will be printed on a superior paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12 to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for

Subscriptions will be received by

HOUSES, LANDS, &c.

Plaster Land.

THE subscriber offers for sale two FARMS, being part of the tract whereon he resides in Fauquier county, Virginia. One of these farms contains 600 acres, one half, at least, of which is in wood—the other contains 450 acres, upwards of one third of which is in wood—on the latter are a commodious overseer's house, a new barn, stables, corn houses, and negro quarters, and about 20 acres of well improved timothy meadow. The woodland on both of these farms is covered with a fine growth of red oak and hickory, and the soil, what is denominated first-rate tobacco land—the whole of the cleared land is under good enclosures, has had the advantage of a clover lay, and has afforded as strong evidences of its adaptation to the Plaster of Paris, as any land in the state. No land is better watered; both farms being bounded by Broad Run, and having (besides other springs) a never failing stream mill run passing through their centre.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

LEE'S MEDICINE STORE,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title, so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebrator or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS. THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
